3D GEOSEISMIC SURVEY CONFIRMS INTEGRITY OF WESIZWE STRUCTURAL MODEL

- Interpretation of field processed data for Wesizwe 3D Geoseismic Survey delivered.
- Quality of data received from the 3D exercise of an exceptionally high quality.
- Results have confirmed the structural integrity of the project's structural geology.
- Data has been incorporated into the Frisch-Ledig Bankable Feasibility Study.

Says Michael Solomon, CEO: "Wesizwe is highly satisfied with the results. The 3D Geoseismic Survey supports the drilling results released for 30 June 2007 and confirms that there are no material concerns relating to the structural or economic geology. As a result, confidence in the project's ultimate viability has been boosted. In addition, the survey confirms the relatively shallow and flat lying nature of the reef and provides accurate structural infill information between boreholes.

Wesizwe's largest shareholder, the Bakubung-Ba-Ratheo community was integrally involved with the survey process, and much of the credit for completion ahead of schedule can be attributed to the high level of commitment displayed by the community."

Wesizwe embarked on the Survey in June 2007 to further increase the levels of confidence in the structural model of the orebody on the Frischgewaagd-Ledig Complex. The Survey was conducted in partnership with Wesizwe's neighbours, the Western Bushveld Joint Venture (Platinum Group Metals Ltd - PTM-TSX, PLG-AMEX, Anglo Platinum and Wesizwe) in the west and Styldrift in the east (Anglo Platinum and Royal Bafokeng Resources).

Importantly, the Survey was conducted in parallel with Wesizwe's Bankable Feasibility Study (BFS). As per schedule, the first draft of the BFS has been delivered and is currently undergoing a peer review. The results will be released in the first quarter 2008.
